Department of Psychology
University of Calgary
December 12th 2022

Congratulations Dr. Tutelman!

Dr. Perri Tutelman, Postdoctoral Fellow with Dr. Fiona Schulte and Dr. Melanie Noel, was selected for a 2023 Childhood Cancer Survivor Study Career Development Award by St. Jude Children's Research Hospital: <https://ccss.stjude.org/career-development-award.html>

Upcoming Events

What is Open Science?!

Host: Open Science Student Support Group (OSSSG)

When: Thursday December 15th from 3-5pm

Where: Admin 247 (with virtual attendance option)

Who: Graduate students, Undergraduate students

Chances are, you've heard the term open science come up in your classes or research work. But you may not be sure what open science is all about or how the concepts of open science can be applied to your research. In this session we will unpack what open science means and provide an overview of why it is important for advancing psychological science. This session will feature brief presentations on the basics of open science, with ample time for group discussions about different open science practices and how you can start implementing such practices into your research! Whether you are encountering open science for the first time, or have experience using open science practices, there will be something to gain for everyone! There will also be snacks and drinks (accommodating gluten free, vegan, and most allergies)

Presenters: Emiko Muraki and Jenelle Morgan

Volunteer & Job Opportunities

Volunteer Research Analyst

I run a research lab which specializes in building databases and looking into Canadian cold cases. As a specialist in serial homicide, I look into patterned homicides and disappearances throughout the country and do what I can to help support victims and their families. I am currently seeking 4 research assistants who would be able to conduct data entry and who are interested in being mentored in areas related to personality psychology, abnormal psychology, and forensics. My group meets once per week. Meetings last two hours. Time commitment outside of meetings would be around four hours per week. This will be a total of six hours per week.

Students can reach me at sasha.reid@ucalgary.ca. Please send a cover letter indicating your interest in the position and some information regarding your availability.

Tenure-Track Assistant Professor Position in Child and Adolescent Clinical Neuropsychology at the University of Windsor

Position # 002437TT-2923-PSY

The University of Windsor's Department of Psychology, in the Faculty Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences invites applications for a tenure-track position, at the rank of Assistant Professor in the field of Child and Adolescent Clinical Neuropsychology commencing July 1, 2023. This position is subject to final budgetary approval.

In addition to serving a large undergraduate population, the Psychology Department offers doctoral degrees in Clinical Psychology and Applied Social Psychology. Our CPA-accredited Clinical Psychology Program offers specialized training in three areas: Adult Clinical, Child Clinical, and life-span Clinical Neuropsychology. The department has the largest doctoral program on campus, an energetic and collaborative culture of scholarship, and operates a state-of-the-art Psychological Services and Research Centre. For further details, visit our website at <http://www.uwindsor.ca/psychology>.

Candidates will have completed a PhD in clinical psychology or clinical neuropsychology from a CPA- or APA-accredited program with pre-doctoral or post-doctoral specialty training, including a CPA- or APA-accredited pre-doctoral internship, involving clinical child/pediatric neuropsychology. If not presently registered in Ontario, successful candidates must be eligible for registration in Clinical Neuropsychology with the College of Psychologists of Ontario (CPO) and must initiate the registration process within the first six months of hire, as registration in Ontario is required for all clinical positions. Successful candidates will be committed to the scientist-practitioner model. Regardless of their area of research expertise, which is open, candidates will demonstrate research productivity and the capacity to develop a strong research program and attract external research funding. They will have the ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses broadly related to their area of expertise; be able to supervise undergraduate and graduate student research; contribute to the service and administrative activities of the clinical program, the department, and the university; and provide clinical training and supervision to graduate students through on-campus practica.

Applicants are expected to have specialised training and research interests involving neuropsychological development from early childhood through older adolescence, including individuals with typical and/or atypical development. In addition to the general requirements listed above, applicants must be competent to work in Clinical Neuropsychology with children and adolescents and must be prepared to teach graduate courses in child neuropsychology and supervise neuropsychological assessments of children and adolescents in our on-campus clinic, in addition to contributing to the undergraduate and clinical graduate program overall.

Application Requirements:

- A letter of application, including a statement confirming eligibility to work in Canada;
- A detailed and current curriculum vitae (for CV items listed as "in press" or "accepted," please include official documentation confirming acceptance);
- A statement of commitment to Equity, Diversity, Inclusion, and Decolonization (up to 1 page);
- A statement of research Interests;
- Up to three (3) samples of published or in-review scholarly articles or papers presented at professional conferences, including (if applicable) clear indications of your contribution to any jointly authored pieces;

- A teaching dossier or portfolio demonstrating potential for or evidence of teaching effectiveness and excellence that will include sample course syllabi/outlines, teaching evaluations, and a statement of teaching philosophy and interests (resources and templates for completing a teaching dossier can be found at <https://www.uwindsor.ca/ctl/502/teaching-dossiers>);
- Official PhD transcripts and certification of degree (copies are acceptable); and
- Three (3) current letters of reference forwarded directly by the referees to the Department Head, at the address or email listed below.

Only those applicants selected for interview will be contacted. The short-listed candidates may be invited to provide further information in support of their applications. To ensure full consideration, complete an online application (<http://www.uwindsor.ca/facultypositions>) found on the job advertisement and ensure letters of reference are submitted by the deadline date of January 13, 2023. Although applications may be considered after the deadline date, acceptance of late submissions is at the discretion of the Appointments Committee.
